

Linda Moulton RN MS

Linda Moulton has worked as a nurse, manager, educator, clinical specialist, research nurse, IRB chairperson, and medical writer and editor. She has written for EP Lab Digest and been on their editorial board for 15 years. She has edited medical articles for non-English speakers, written white papers and promotional material for industry, and worked on textbook completion. She managed and taught in the Order and Disorder EP Training Program for 25 years. She taught basic statistics for 6 years. She completed a PhD in nursing all but dissertation and completed Editing and Medical Writing/Editing certificates from the University of Chicago. She is the owner of Critical Care ED/CCE Consulting.